

A 10x10 grid of squares, each representing a city. The squares are colored in various shades of blue, ranging from very light to dark. The colors represent population density, with darker shades indicating higher density. The grid is arranged in 10 rows and 10 columns, totaling 100 squares.

